

Ski

You're standing in line for the lift. You have some time. You look around. But have you ever thought of looking down? What do your skis actually look like? We do.

And we decided to make our own solution. That's how the story of Egoé move began. And as time went by, we came up with a follow up question. Is it even necessary to waste time waiting for a lift?

It is just natural to be outdoors. Although home and a roof over our heads are places we like to return to, we still like to escape from time to time. On the patio, in the garden or even further - to the woods, to the water, to the mountains.

Ideas

The inner craving to solve a problem. Not to copy others, not to follow trends but instead to offer our own perspective. That is the idea. We perceive design as the manifestation of a concrete solution.

We're not about capturing trends, we're not looking at what's hip right now. Whether it's camping boxes, outdoor furniture, skis or anything else, we always go our own way. We deal with what we currently live by.

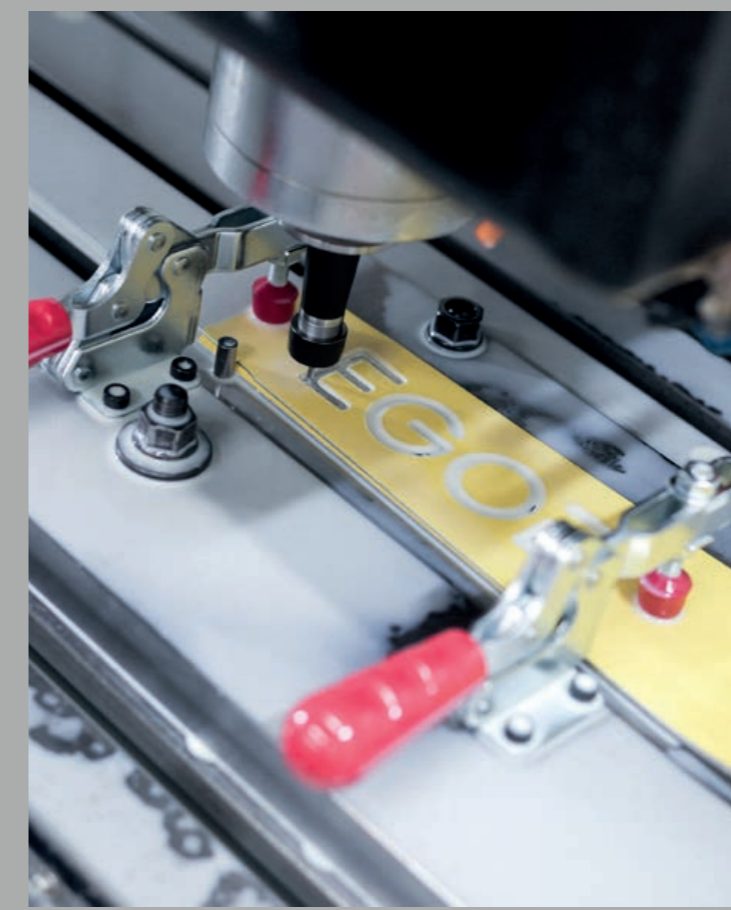

Make

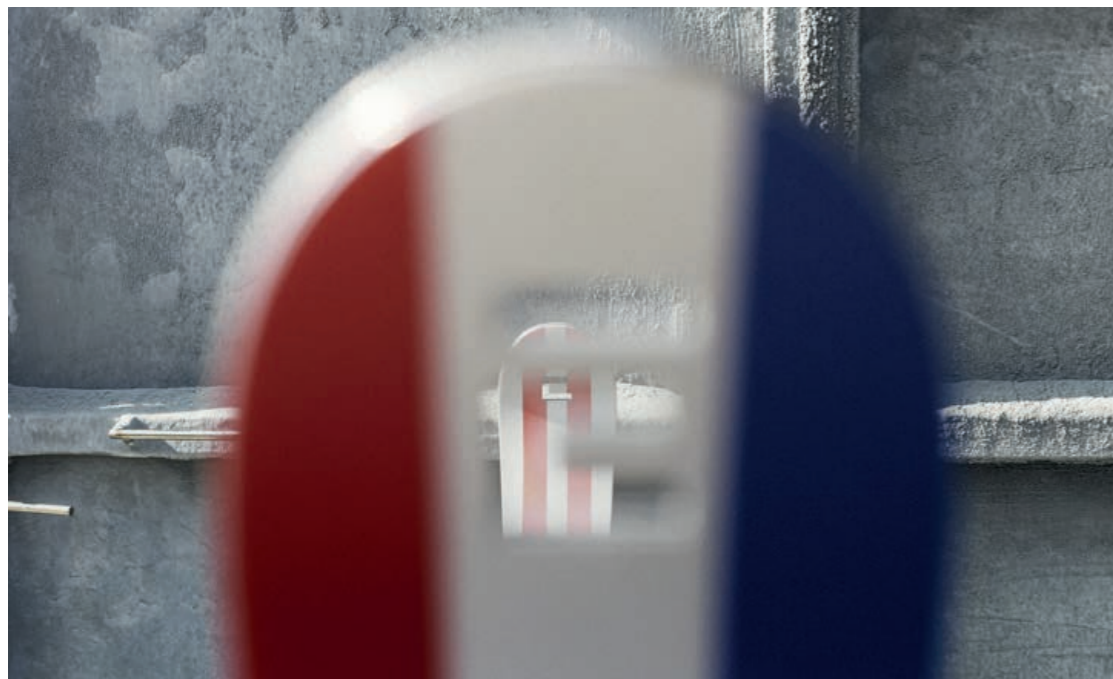

To accept responsibility for the implementation. This is the most important precondition for an idea not to end up merely on paper or in our head.

It all started with the contour. Literally. From a mere sketch, we went to our first collection, aptly named Contour. Technically we went to the very limit - wooden core, two titanal plates, sintered slide. The artistic solution, on the other hand, is simple. Yet it stands out from everything else on the slope. The same goes for the Dip or the children's Pastelo series.
